

BOOM TOWN IT'S NOT

BUT FUTURE APPEARS ROSY

Hush, There's A Gentle Roar In Peachland

By TERRY STEWARD

Peachland is no boom town. It isn't a place where buildings are springing up overnight or where big dollars can be made with little more investment than your back and its sweat. There are no more than the usual dreams of wealth and fortune to come, and stories of expected riches and future ease cannot be heard in casual conversation with the merchants and townsfolk.

With no more than three or four people ever seen at one time on the main street stretching along the lake front, Peachland can hardly be described as booming. But there is a gentle roar. And the roar emanates from a site about 20 miles due west of the municipality where a mining company plans to dislodge upwards of 20,000 tons of copper and molybdenum-yielding ore each day.

A BIG ONE

Causing the roar, apart from the operation itself, which could become one of the largest of its kind in Western Canada, are the up to 400 employees of Brenda Mines Ltd. who will carry out the operation.

Substantiating the roar to a point where it will easily be heard in Peachland, and other areas such as Westbank and Summerland, will be the estimated $55,000,000 expected to be poured into the project.

Although not outwardly, the proposed Brenda operation has already affected many inhabitants of Peachland.

Exploration work has been going on for some time and supplies and materials have been needed by various companies involved. For some in Peachland, the winter has been as good as an average summer.

But the greatest effect to date is the hope it has provided for a community which, essentially a farming area, was almost wiped out by the frost of 1964.

Because of increasing production costs in orchard farming on many side hills around Peachland, there are many growers who have never replanted.

Without the subdivision and sale of their land, there were few places where a dollar could be found for many of the Peachland natives who had farmed their entire lives.

ALMOST SURE

The almost-sure bet that Brenda will open operations has provided these people with the opportunity for selling.

And as in any area which expects expansion, most of Peachland's 681 inhabitants look forward to newer stores and services, bigger schools and better development in general.

There are a few who will not be affected by development and who, in fact, are saddened with the prospect of Peachland becoming a mining town.

Most, however, are confident that "mining town" in the connotation it is best known will not apply to Peachland.

"These workers will not be hard rock miners," says Pete Speckman, owner of Peachland's hotel, the Totem Inn, where two floors of rooms are being added in anticipation of future development.

"For the most part they will be machine operators and technical men," he says, "and not those miners who we think of as living dangerously on the job, then taking it out on society above ground."

Also anticipating future development is Ernie Lewis, who, with his partner Ed Bourne, operates a Peachland garage and service station.

Ken Fulks, proprietor of a general store in Peachland, says both as a resident and businessman in the municipality, "I look forward to what Brenda will do for the town."

"I think the town will develop as quickly as the mining develops," he said.

But while nobody in Peachland can really deny the mining development will be good for the municipality, expansion always creates problems.

With the twinge of excitement and formulation of plans in the minds of most people there, a hint of unrest also abides.

"To start with, a plan of some sort is needed," says municipal clerk H. C. MacNeill.

"The usual plan for an area sees development from the centre outwards," he said, "but that is not possible here because of the lake and the hills."

So the problem of where new complexes or buildings should be built can cause differences of opinion which are usually resolved only by time, if at all.

Many of the keys may be in the feasibility study being undertaken by a professional firm at the request of the municipality.

"They will study many things such as water, sewage and zoning and should be able to provide us with a guide," said the municipal clerk. "But there are many factors and people are still formulating ideas."

"Development may be gradual—or it may be sudden when the time is right."

MINISTER SMEARED WITH SLUDGE BY VISITORS FROM BUTTE LAKE

VICTORIA (CP)—Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell accidentally got smeared with sludge from Butte Lake mine tailings when he met about 100 anti-pollutionists on the legislature steps Monday.

The delegation, mostly from Campbell River which draws its water supply from the lake, brought a brief for the cabinet and evidence that Western Mines Ltd. operations within Strathcona Park on Vancouver Island were polluting a creek.

Mr. Campbell got sludge from a Western Mines tailings pond on his face and clothes when Larry Weiden, chairman of the Campbell River Pollution Control Society, greeted the minister with a slimy handshake.

Mr. Weiden had dipped his hand into a bucket of sludge brought as pollution evidence prior to greeting Mr. Campbell.

The brief called for a cabinet order to the company to prevent tailings from escaping into any waters emptying into the lake, a government-company research program to develop a safe disposal process, and a government commission where interested citizens could present their pollution views.

Ed Mankelov, president of the Vancouver Island Wildlife Association, said the company now favors a public hearing on the question as urged by anti-pollutionists.

"Only the government now seems opposed to this," he said.

Blast Rocks Stricken Tanker Seeping Oil In English Channel

(Reuters) — An explosion followed by a fire today rocked the American-owned 61,000-ton tanker Torrey Canyon which was aground on a reef near here four days ago.

A coast guard spokesman said the explosion was in the ship's engine room but the following fire was quickly extinguished.

A navy pilot who flew over the tanker said damage from the explosion was extensive.

The Italian captain of the ship, his remaining crew members and salvage men were taken off the coast guard said.

Much of the 120,000 tons of oil carried by the ship when it ran aground Saturday leaked out into the English Channel.

The vessel was carrying 120,000 tons of oil, nearly half of which leaked out after it ran aground on a reef near here here Saturday.

Some 100 square miles off the southwestern English coast, threatening to wash up on English and French beaches.

A coast guard official at St. Mary's in the nearby Scilly Islands said the stern of the tanker was damaged in the fire.

A lifeboat was sent out from St. Mary's with a doctor on board and tugs were standing by.

Suggestions that the American-owned tanker and its remaining cargo should be set on fire were made by members of Parliament Monday.

Sir Francis Rounds Horn

PUNTA ARENAS, Chile (Reuters)—Solo yachtsman Sir Francis Chichester steered his storm-battered Gypsy Moth IV north into the Atlantic and pointed it toward England and home today after battling around Cape Horn through 20-foot waves.

Icy grey-green seas whipped by winds up to 100 miles an hour pounded the 53-foot ketch as it cleared the treacherous cape, the most formidable hazard on Chichester's around-the-world voyage.

First news that the 65-year-old mariner had rounded the Horn came from a private pilot who spotted the silver-and-white boat running before near hurricane-force winds under a single tiny sail, with the British frigate Protector shadowing it about half a mile behind.

Pilot Roberto Fuenzalida darted through icy rainstorms almost down to sea level to spot the two-master vessel about 20 miles east of the Cape Monday.

He estimated Chichester passed 20 miles or so south of the cape before turning Gypsy Moth's bow north for the comparative calm of the South Atlantic. He still faced several hazardous days before reaching calm seas, according to shipping sources in this port near the tip of South America.

A lot now depends on Chichester's physical condition at the halfway point of his return journey from Sydney to Plymouth, England.

LBJ Peace Bid Spurned By HO

TOKYO (AP)—U.S. President Johnson sent a message to President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam in the first week of February suggesting "direct talks" for peace in Vietnam, but Ho rejected the offer, the North Vietnamese foreign ministry announced today.

The foreign ministry said in a statement "The representative of the United States in Moscow" requested a meeting with "the representative" of North Vietnam and handed him Johnson's message for Ho.

The statement broadcast by the official North Vietnamese news agency said Ho sent his reply to Johnson Feb. 15, the day after the U.S. resumed air raids against North Vietnam following the Lunar New Year pause.

He told Johnson in his reply: "In your message, you suggested direct talks between the Democratic Republic of Vietnam and the United States."

Charges of arrogance and double talk were heard at Monday night's city council meeting, but by noon today, after two secret meetings, everyone concerned was happy.

The trouble began when members of the Motor Dealers of Kelowna appeared at the city council meeting to protest the elimination of access across sidewalks to auto dealerships on Lawrence Avenue and Water Street.

The issue came to a head last Friday when Mervyn Motors obtained an interim injunction, stopping city work on a sidewalk along the east side of Water Street. The dealers claimed the sidewalk would eliminate an access to the auto lot.

The issue reached a heated peak Monday night when Dennis Crookes, speaking for the motor dealers, accused city engineer E. Lawrence of being arrogant and A. H. Thomas Angus of using double talk.

Arrangements were made for senior city staff members and three aldermen to meet with motor dealer representatives at 9 a.m. today, a meeting which resolved the issue.

The city offered to provide Mervyn Motors with a Water Street access if the dealers would pay the cost of rebuilding a section of sidewalk on Lawrence Avenue.

The Lawrence access involved three angle parking spots, which will be reduced to one, still to be used as access by the dealers.

Mervyn Motors president Frank Christian said today he was happy with the arrangement and pleased with city cooperation.

Monday night the motor dealers claimed their industry represented an $8,000,000 business in the city last year and as such they were entitled to consultation with the city before such sidewalk work began.

A. H. Carter, of Carter Motors, said sidewalk construction was also begun on Lawrence Avenue last week without any notice. The council agreed this practice would be changed.

City Faces Strike Threat From Electricians' Union

Kelowna today faces the possibility of the second strike threat of civic employees in less than eight months.

A conciliation board report recommending pay increases for the city's 13 members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (Local 213) has been accepted by the City of Kelowna and must be accepted or rejected by the electricians by March 28.

If the board's recommendations are rejected by the electrical union the city will seek a government-supervised strike vote.

The vote would be the second since last July. Then local members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees voted to strike, but the walkout was avoided when the union accepted a new city offer.

This time the unanimous conciliation board report calls for no reduction in the 40-hour work week, but pay increases from $3.52 an hour to $3.65 an hour, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1966; $3.04 an hour retroactive to Jan. 1 of this year and $4.08 an hour from Jan. 1, 1968 to the end of next year.

A lineman in Kelowna now makes $3.52 an hour and has been without a new contract since the end of 1965. The new contract, if accepted by the union, would run for three years, to the end of 1968, the first two increases of which would be retroactive and paid in a lump sum.

OTHER COMPANY

The conciliation board report is based on wages paid to B.C. Hydro and Power Authority and West Kootenay Power and Light Co. employees.

The following percentage increases for all electrical union employees other than journeyman linemen was recommended by the conciliation board: retroactive to Jan. 1, 1966, 4.6 per cent; retroactive to Jan. 1, 1967, 7.9 per cent, based on the 1966 rate; and at Jan. 1, 1968, 3.6 per cent, based on the 1967 rate.

Members of the conciliation board were: chairman B. W. Byratt and members J. C. Oliver and W. Isbister. Appearing for the City of Kelowna were T. E. Wolfe, D. B. Herbert, R. A. Freeman and A. E. Guy. Appearing for the union were Mike Scheer, Frank Mana, J. Cody and W. Bonin.

Mr. Isbister disagreed with the hours of work recommendation and was to file a minority report, according to the department of labor.

If the union does not accept the board's report, the next step could be delayed until after March 28.

Reds Sent Reeling In Retreat After Assault On U.S. Lines

SAIGON (AP) — A regiment of 2,500 Communists stormed American positions near Cambo today, but American infantrymen, artillery and aircraft sent them reeling back with 423 bodies strewn over the Vietnamese jungle battlefield.

Under a blistering mortar barrage, the attackers smashed into U.S. positions at dawn, sometimes getting within hand-to-hand range.

Incredible Nautical Feat Ends In Nova Scotia Port

SHELBURNE, N.S. (CP) — One of the more incredible feats in nautical history came to a close here early today when a 23-year-old native of British Columbia was led ashore under guard from the Canadian Coast Guard vessel Thomas Carleton.

Bruce Moore of Prince Rupert, was taken to Shelburne County jail charged with stealing a Canadian vessel from a Canadian port under Section 76a of the Criminal Code. The charge carries a maximum sentence of 14 years in prison.

Moore appeared in court later for arraignment.

The incredible story involved the Cape Sproy, a 22-foot dragger which was stolen from Lockport on Nova Scotia's South Shore early last Friday and allegedly sailed by one man for three days until caught by the Carleton some 275 miles off the coast of Lockport.

The hunt for her involved the RCAF, the Canadian navy, the Canadian and United States coast guards and the RCMP and covered many thousands of miles of the Western Atlantic.

ARRESTED ABOARD SPRY

The cat-and-mouse search finally ended when the crew members of the Carleton boarded her and Moore was taken into custody by RCMP officers on board the coast guard ship.

Both vessels reached here early today, the Cape Sproy manned by men from the Carleton. Moore, a six-foot-two marine mechanic who joined the Cape Sproy as a deck hand in January, had been under his own power as he was led ashore wearing a red and black check coat, rumpled trousers and rubber boots.

He was standing on deck in seven-degree temperature as the Carleton neared dock, but went below when the vessel tied up.

'Timid' Liberals Blamed For Restraining Canada

Davie Fulton, one of the contenders for the leadership of the Progressive Conservative party, says in Hamilton, Ont., the hesitant and timorous leadership of the Liberal party is holding back the development of Canada. Mr. Fulton, member of Parliament for Kamloops, told a party meeting that the public had long ago made up its mind that leadership is hobbling the Canadian system. Strong policies were needed to encourage Canadians to invest in Canadian ownership of industry. "But what are we getting?" Mr. Fulton asked. "We see a government and cabinet locked in struggle between two strong, stubborn personalities. Mitchell Sharp and Walter Gordon, with the prime minister unable or unwilling to resolve the deadlock."

LEGISLATURE AT-A-GLANCE

MONDAY, March 20
The house gave second reading, approval in principle to 12 bills and final reading to another 20.

Opposition Leader Strachan accused the government of misleading the public when it introduced its regional district concept two years ago.

Dr. Pat McGeer (L-Vancouver-Point Grey) said there are several hundred persons "at the very least" in B.C. who regularly use the hallucinatory drug LSD.

TUESDAY, March 21
The house will consider second and third readings of a number of bills.

Informers Sought In B.C. In Battle Against LSD

VICTORIA (CP) — The Social Credit government of British Columbia indicated Monday night it wants to make every body an LSD informer, but did not stipulate any penalty for not informing.

Health Minister Black told the legislature an amendment to the Health Act will require that any person knowing of the presence of LSD "shall report it to a medical health officer or a police officer."

Mr. Black said a bill to control LSD and marijuana, which received second reading Monday night, will be supported so far as LSD is concerned by the amendment to the Health Act. The bill makes possession of LSD or marijuana illegal, with a maximum fine of $2,000 or six months' imprisonment, or both.

No penalty is stated in the proposed Health Act amendment requiring persons to report the presence of LSD.

Dr. Pat McGeer (L-Vancouver-Point Grey) told the house the legislation will cut down on "capricious LSD parties."

He said there are 100 LSD users at the University of British Columbia and "several hundred regular users at the very least" in the province.

He said teenagers should be told there is no way they can win by taking LSD.

Tom Berger (NDP-Vancouver Burrard) said the bill should provide education and treatment programs.

"It is not good enough to appeal to pain, fear and guilt," he said. But the NDP supported the bill "because any vote against it might be construed as a vote sanctioning LSD."

A bill to amend the Motor Vehicles Act also was given second reading, approval in principle, after lengthy debate.

Dave Barrett (NDP-Coquitlam) said psychiatric examinations should be included in driving tests because many accidents stem from psychological problems.

"Anyone who has had two or three drunk-driving convictions should not get his licence back without a psychiatric test, because there is evidence of a problem there," Mr. Barrett said.

The bill prohibits persons under 18 to own a car without parental consent and disallows television receivers in front seats of cars.

During debate on a bill to amend the Workmen's Compensation Act, two Social Credit members joined opposition MLAs who said they were willing to extend the legislative session to approve a new act entirely.

Labor Minister Peterson said last week he wants industry and management to study a proposed new act before it is considered at next year's session.

Opposition Leader Strachan suggested the house sit through Easter to approve the new act, which would increase compensation payments and provide a greater range of coverage.

John Tisdalle (SC-Saanich and The Islands) and Ernie LeCours (SC-Richmond) supported Mr. Strachan and other NDP and Liberal speakers in calling for a new act this session.

42-Year Lease Is Plenty Says National Parks Report

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons parks committee said 42-year leases are long enough to entice capital to national parks and also ensure a reasonable amount of time for investors to get a return on their money.

In a report to be tabled this week in the Commons, the committee says it favors replacing existing perpetual leases with the 42-year leases.

Residents of Western Canada parks are up in arms over park policy under which land and buildings leased by the parks return to Crown ownership after 42 years.

In the past, it was possible to get so-called perpetual leases which could be renewed so as to retain ownership by families and groups.

The government now is granting only 42-year leases when the perpetual leases come up for renewal.

The committee refused to take a stand on whether replacing the perpetual leases was within the federal government's power. It said this was better left to a testing in the courts.

On the matter of compensation, the committee said a local board of arbitration should be established to determine the amount to be paid to a residential leaseholder.

For businesses, the committee said the 42-year leases should give investors time to show a reasonable profit. So no compensation should be paid unless the independent corporation to be set up by Parliament recommended differently on such leases.

Informants said Conservative members of the committee were unhappy with the committee recommendations on the 42-year leases.

The committee supported park policy which says the parks are dedicated to the education and enjoyment of all Canadians and that their use should leave them unimpaired for the enjoyment of future generations.

Homosexual Fights Conviction On Basis Of Definition

OTTAWA (CP) — The conviction of a confessed homosexual as a dangerous sexual offender was challenged in the Supreme Court of Canada Monday by an Ottawa lawyer who argued that the definition was never intended to include ordinary homosexuals.

Brian A. Crane sought leave to appeal the case of a 26-year-old man sentenced to an indefinite term of preventive detention last year by the Northwest Territories court.

A three-member Supreme Court tribunal reserved its decision on whether to hear the appeal.

The man was sentenced under a clause Parliament added to the Criminal Code in 1961. It defined a dangerous sexual offender as a person who fails to control his sexual impulses and is likely to cause harm or commit further sexual offences.

The territorial Appeal Court has turned down a review of his case.

Mr. Crane said the judge who sentenced the man had no evidence showing a failure to control sexual impulses. The offences from which the charge arose took place in private with consenting adult males.

NOT A RAPIST

"There is no question here of a rapist, or of a man who assaults children or does acts in public," he said.

Court psychiatrists had described the man as timid in his approaches. There was no suggestion of violence anywhere in his record.

"The man's sexual impulses are, in fact, under control," Mr. Crane contended.

K. D. A. Morrison of the federal justice department opposed the application for leave to appeal. He said it was not necessary to interpret the law's reference to further offences as meaning those dangerous to other persons.

The prosecution had to prove either part of the legal definition of a dangerous sexual offender, but did not need to prove both. But there was evidence in the case that both a lack of control and a danger of further offences existed.

CITY OFFERS $100 INFORMATION REWARD

Damage to a tree on the Knox Mountain Park Road, which forced its removal, has prompted the city council to offer $100 for information regarding the incident. On the left is a view of the tree as it stood last May on the first park road viewpoint. Right the tree lies on the ground, cut down because it could not be saved. Mayor R. F. Parkinson said Monday night the damage was probably not caused by children. The area today was littered with beer bottles. See story this page.

Chocolate-Colored Eggs Teen Town Hunt's Goal

The south side of Knox Mountain will come alive Easter Sunday when the Kelowna Teen Town stages an egg hunt for children age 12 and under. Some 3,000 chocolate-covered eggs, wrapped in colored foil, will be hidden by some 20 Teen Town members earlier in the day. The hunt is set for 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Parents or older members of the family are asked to accompany children of six and under.

Police Question Two Juveniles

Three downtown buildings were entered overnight and police have two Rutland juveniles in custody in connection with the incidents.

Police recovered five bottles of wine taken from the Aquatic building, a quantity of new clothing from Stylemart Men's Wear and cigarettes from Gordon's Super Valu store. The goods were recovered in a city school yard where they had been hidden.

The first report came at 12:40 a.m. when a witness told police he saw two juveniles running from Gordon's Super Valu, 561 Bernard Ave.

Police chased the youths down Lawrence Avenue and Richter Street and through back alleys. Two boys—a 17-year-old and a 15-year-old were apprehended.

Nine Month Jail Sentence Imposed On Kelowna Youth

An 18-year-old Kelowna youth was sentenced in magistrate's court today to nine months definite and two years indeterminate, with a recommendation the term be served at the Haney Correctional Institute.

Edgar Allan Fenning, McCulloch Road, appeared on a bench of probation charge, but was sentenced for the original offence of breaking and entering of a shed and theft.

The theft involved three people and radiators which were later sold for $9 and the amount split among the three, the prosecutor said.

The break-in occurred March 1 and he was given a suspended sentence March 14, when he was prohibited from driving for six months. On March 19 he was spotted driving a car by a police constable.

Parents' Group Meets Tonight

Single parents are invited to attend a meeting at 8 p.m. today of the Parents Without Partners club, which will be held in the health centre annex.

The formation of such a club is being contemplated in Kelowna and H. R. Maddocks is a long chairman. The purpose of the club would be to provide speakers and panelists who could offer help and advice on a variety of subjects.

Fresh Snow Still Around

Fresh snow continues to fall on both the Rogers Pass and the Allison Pass, the Kelowna said at 8 a.m. today.

The Rogers Pass received four and one-half inches and the Allison Pass, on the Hope-Princeton highway, two inches. Snow was still falling early today in both areas and slippery sections were reported.

Parking Rules Hit Wednesday

City traffic officers have been given orders by city hall officials to patrol downtown streets Wednesday afternoon.

The immediate result is that the one-hour parking will be in effect and cars parked longer will receive parking tickets.

When Wednesday noon closing was in effect for city stores, the special traffic officers went off duty at noon that day. A recent bylaw now permits unlimited store hours Monday to Saturday inclusive. For a while there was a change in the checking of cars on downtown streets.

The area officers go into effect immediately.

Blood Clinic Next Month

The spring blood donor clinic will be held in Kelowna April 18, 19 and 20, Mrs. Richard Stirling, chairman, said Monday.

Trucks Rolling Early In May At White Plant

A week of ceremonies will mark the official opening of Kelowna's $4,000,000 White Truck Manufacturing Ltd. plant in May.

Although the official opening is scheduled for May 13, the week will begin with a chamber of commerce day May 9 and end with open house for Kelowna residents, May 14.

The trucking plant is located on Highway 97 east of the city in the new industrial park. The announcement of the new industry for Kelowna was made Aug. 1, 1966. The first truck is scheduled to come off the assembly line later this month.

Coinciding with the official opening will be a White Truck Week involving company officials, government leaders, dealers, students and the community as a whole.

White Trucks, a division of the White Motor Corporation of Cleveland, Ohio, established in the Okanagan as a result of the federal government's aid to new industries under the 1965 Area Development Incentive Act.

Following chamber of commerce day on Tuesday, White Truck Week an education day will be held Wednesday, when students will learn about the new plant and its work through films and speakers.

Thursday will be merchants day, with a display of the trucks on city streets.

Friday is suppliers' day when

Plan To Increase Width Brings Crowd To Council

The proposed increase in width of Pandosy Street, between Lake and Park Avenues attracted a large crowd to the city council meeting Monday night and prompted the council to take another look at the project.

Extra chairs were needed as more than 30 people attended the public zoning hearing to protest plans to widen the section of Pandosy Street to 65 feet from 55 feet. Many of the property owners, on both sides of the street, would lose from one to 11 feet of property.

After one hour and 43 minutes of discussion the council voted to refer the matter back to the senior staff and city engineer E. F. Lawrence promised to take another look at his plans.

Pandosy Street was recently designated a secondary highway and the city hopes eventually to turn it into a four-lane street as far as Raymer Ave. Although there are no immediate widening plans the city seeks to purchase the required extra land as new property developments take place between Park and Lake.

The regulations would control the types of business allowed in private homes. The Kelowna Junior Chamber of Commerce prepared a brief, commenting on suggestions made by the city's staff planning committee and the Jaycees will take part in future discussions with senior staff members. Also to be considered is a letter dealing with home occupations from C. H. Taylor of Manhattan Drive.

Four resolutions, applied for by the staff planning committee and the Underhill Clinic, were approved.

The zoning bylaw will be amended to increase the lot width and lot area required in the R-3 (multi-family residential) zone, vary the front and side yard requirements and require the provision of additional off-street parking.

Also approved in conjunction with the first successful resolution was an amendment calling for the increase of the lot width and lot area required of a lot containing a duplex or semi-detached dwelling to 80 feet and 9,600 square feet and to require minimum side yards for such lots of 10 feet.

The third staff planning committee resolution to gain approval calls for a bylaw amendment to change the classification of the property north of Wilson Avenue and south of the railway right-of-way from W-3 (controlled warehouse and distribution) to R-1 (single family residential). The property is occupied by the Bankhead Elementary School and the Lombardy Park area.

The Underhill Clinic application approved calls for rezoning the clinic's property from R-3 (multi-family residential) to C-1 (central commercial).

Mayor R. F. Parkinson, presiding at his first council meeting in three weeks, since leaving for a Hawaiian vacation, said he was glad to see so many people at the hearing.

He said the council welcomed the comments and "zoning hearings are often one of the few times we hear citizens' opinions of city council operations."

The second half of the program will open with the second movement, Courship, from the opera Ein Heldenleben by Richard Strauss, followed by Capriccio Espanol by Rimsky-Korsakov.

Two student soloists will be featured in the final group. Darrel Ede, clarinetist, will play Carol Von Weber's Concertino, Opus 26 and cornetist Phillip Aarhus will play El Tempesto by Fred Kepner.

Three symphonic songs for band by Robert Russell Bennett will follow, Sarcade, Spiritual and Celebration. The program will conclude with the folk songs American Overture for Band by Joseph Jenkins.

Optional numbers will include marches, novelty selections and light classical compositions.

The Pacific Lutheran University concert band will perform in the Community Theatre in Kelowna April 2 at 2:30 p.m.

The 60-piece band, under the direction of Gordon Gilbertson, will play marches, chorales, classical and contemporary works. The band comes from Tacoma, Wash.

The program will open with a choral prelude, From Heaven Above, followed by two chorales, With All Thy Hosts and From Highest Heaven to Earth Come. All three are the works of Johann Sebastian Bach.

The band will play Scenes from the Louvre, a recent work of the U.S. composer, Norman Delo Jolo. The work includes five movements which cover the period of the Louvre's development during the Renaissance period.

The engineering department will keep in mind the naming of a street after David Leckie, a pioneer Kelowna resident who had much to do with the development of the city. A short street in the north end industrial area now named after Mr. Leckie is not suitable, R. C. DeMara told the council. The council agreed a more suitable street should be named after Mr. Leckie, who arrived in Kelowna in 1904.

The Kelowna and District Credit Union was congratulated for its plans to build a new building on the east side of Ellis Street, near the Queensway intersection.

City assessor J. E. Markle was authorized to prepare a frontage tax assessment roll. The first sitting of the court revision for the sewer frontage tax assessment roll will be held in the council chambers May 17. The first sitting of the court of revision for local improvements will be held in the council chamber April 19.

The Kelowna Chamber of Commerce will receive a letter from the council telling of efforts to have the west side road improved. The chamber recently supported a Westbank chamber resolution to have the road improved and repaired. The road, running north from the old ferry landing, has been a target of the Kelowna city council for about three years. Last year, when provincial crews surveyed a proposed Poplar Point-Okanagan Centre road the city asked if the same crew could do the west side route. The provincial government said funds would not allow the survey at that time.

G. O. Adams, an official of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, which developed a senior citizens' residence at the base of Knox Mt., thanked Mayor Parkinson for the fine proposed government legislation requiring all municipalities to housing development.

Received from R. M. Strachan, N.D.V. head and leader of the opposition in the H.C. Legislature was a letter dealing with proposed government legislation requiring all municipalities to housing development.

LOSE 11 FEET

Percy Tinker, appearing on behalf of St. David's Presbyterian Church, said the church, at Pandosy and Sutherland, would lose 11 feet if the zoning resolution was passed. He said this would cause increased noise and might force changes costing an estimated $8,500. He said the spiritual lives of 200 families might be affected.

Mr. Tinker suggested taking the required 11 feet from the opposite side (west) where all houses were set back a great distance from the street.

City assessor J. E. Markle said several things, including hedges, could be used to cut noise.

R. J. Lloyd, of Lloyd's Grocery, across Sutherland from the church, said children already had trouble crossing Pandosy Street.

"Cars go by now at 40 m.p.h. to 45 m.p.h. and if the street was widened the speed would be 50 m.p.h. and someone would be killed," he said.

Mr. Lloyd said he would be forced out of business if 11 feet was taken from the front of his store.

He suggested paving Pandosy from sidewalk to sidewalk, to provide room for cyclists, and leave the rest of the street the way it is.

C. G. Beeston, appearing for a property owner next to the church, said the value of property in the area would be reduced even if the proposed widening was years away. He said removal of 11 feet from one woman's lot would force her to move. He said if her house was moved back she would step off the street.

The council has agreed to pay half the cost of hosting a group of overseas university students at a Saturday banquet, providing the chamber of commerce pays the remaining 50 per cent.

The students will be in Kelowna as part of an Okanagan tour designed to help them become better acquainted with B.C.

A total of 6,118,000 kilowatt hours of power was consumed in Kelowna during February, an increase of 10.8 per cent from the previous February, at a cost of $44,219.

A meeting will be arranged between C. M. Lipsett and senior city staff members to discuss the notification of private homeowners before subdivision changes are made. Mr. Lipsett told the council such a change was made effecting his property without his knowledge until work began.

A 10-minute parking zone will be established in front of a St. Paul Street shop repair shop, following complaints last Monday that the store's owner suffered a business loss because of downtown workers parking all day in the unrestricted area.

A zoning board of appeal hearing will be held at 10 a.m. March 30 in the city council chamber to hear an appeal by A. R. Pollard and his wife Catherine Jean. The appeal concerns the city licence inspector's refusal to issue the Pollards with a building permit for a residence at 930 Fairway Cres.

City clerk James Hudson said the Pollard property did not meet rear yard setback requirements.

Operation Cosmetic, the national campaign to beautify Canada, which was begun in Kelowna last year, will soon be started again, under Ald. Thomas Angus. Ald. Angus said last year he was pleased with initial response, but more improvement was possible.

The council voted against supporting Ancaster, Ontario's bid to have the federal government create an annual holiday in February. The B.C. Municipal Act allows the council to declare a municipal holiday at any time of the year.

No One Can Separate Self From Business

Students of Simon Fraser University and some members of the faculty have threatened to strike if five dismissed teaching assistants are not reinstated. The five were dismissed because they joined in the protest against the dismissal from class of a student at one of the Vancouver high schools. The students at Simon Fraser object to the dismissal of the five assistants on the grounds that it was a restriction of "academic freedom". This is a fine sounding phrase which presumably means a member of a university or a school staff can do anything he wishes without being fired by the institution. Unfortunately the Simon Fraser students and some of its faculty members have not yet learned that it is impossible for a university professor or a teaching assistant at the university to divorce himself from the university. Nor can any member of a staff of any business divorce himself from that business. He may feel he can go home at five and do as he likes and indeed he can, but whatever he does reflects back upon the business. This is even more true in the case of the education profession. Teachers and professors have the task of teaching and guiding the younger generation. They have a responsibility and included in that responsibility is setting an example. It is a responsibility which they cannot escape. Their actions reflect on the institution in which they teach. If this reflection puts the institution in a poor light, surely the authorities of the institution have a right to take some disciplinary action. Five Simon Fraser assistants appear to have gone out of their way to participate in a debate in which they had no real concern. Simon Fraser authorities considered the action of the five was detrimental to the good name of the university and took disciplinary action. The Simon Fraser students surely do not think a minister can do anything he jolly well likes without it hurting his church? Or a businessman without it hurting the firm which employs him? Or a banker? Surely they do not think that the phrase "academic freedom" automatically wipes out all restrictions? Especially those restrictions which are wordless and invisible? The hard truth is that a certain standard of good conduct is required of a teacher, as of anyone else; and a certain standard of loyalty and good taste. No one can eliminate these unexpressed and invisible cords of responsibility. If anyone ignores them, he is not a good employee and should be dismissed.

Protecting Basic Rights

(Penticton Herald)
Within a matter of weeks it is anticipated the Royal Canadian Mounted Police highway patrols will be equipped with the little green box commonly referred to as a breathalyzer and that the police officials will be empowered to insist that a suspected drinking driver take a breathalyzer test. While our sympathies go to the policemen in their thankless task of keeping the streets and highways safe, the evil of a law which would force a man to testify against himself is greater than the good of a breathalyzer. No suspected criminal accorded the rights of a Canadian citizen has to bear witness against himself. An accused man is innocent until proven guilty. The breathalyzer, which is statistically almost foolproof in giving an accurate report of the alcohol content in a person, would provide evidence when used by a suspect that could only be considered as "testifying against himself" when presented in a court of law. The Commons justice committee has recommended that it should be illegal for anyone suspected of driving in an impaired state to refuse to give a sample of breath to a law officer. Such a recommendation is contrary to a citizen's basic right. We do not contend that it is a right of a citizen to drive along a public highway in an impaired state and possibly cause a serious accident. Such an act is already on the statute books as being contrary to the law. Much has been said recently about the bugging and wire tapping cases in Canada. We said concerning these cases that a man's privacy from wire tapping was a basic right and we consider the breathalyzer tests and wire tapping in the same contexts—invasions of basic rights. It is our view that the only acceptable means of dealing with drinking drivers is a hard-boiled yet realistic approach to punishment. Periodic spot-checks, such as those so effective over the Christmas holidays, plus a stepped-up educational program designed to make every driver well aware of the consequences for drinking and driving, is the answer. Other means, no matter how effective, which contradict the fundamental rights of an individual, cannot be tolerated.

TEENAGE COMMENT

Brotherhood Week

A recent week was very special in that it was Brotherhood Week. What precisely is Brotherhood Week? It is set aside each year to promote better understanding among the people of the world today. But how can such a dream exist in the world, competing in its crises? If there were no problem in the United States with the white versus the Negro, if there were no crisis with the white against the Indian in Canada, if there were no other problems going on in the world today, what a wonderful place it would be. Every crisis has its starting point, and the starting point is lack of understanding. If we would all stop to think of the troubles we can cause for others, we would be starting to understand. Every person on the earth should try to understand and help the other so that we can have Brotherhood Week every week of the year. —George Elliot School, Grade 10

IT HAPPENED IN CANADA

Gangster City? No, Not Chicago!

CHICAGO (Reuters) — The woman said aggrievedly: "Why does everyone still think of Chicago as a gangster city? I've been in tiny villages in Europe where small boys point their fingers and say 'Bang Bang' as soon as I say I'm from Chicago. It's not like that at all. Chicago businessmen say the same thing much more emphatically, saying out statistics like machine-gun fire to prove their city's eminence in the world of industry and finance. Pride in their bustling community, 130 years old, is a characteristic of all Chicagoans. From a frontier town of 4,000 in 1837 it has grown to a sprawling metropolis of 3,500,000—more than 7,000,000 if the suburban population is counted. Its diversified industry in 1965 produced manufactured products to the value of $30,100,000. Chicagoans like to claim this exceeds the output of all the Scandinavian countries combined. Since 1955 Chicago has enjoyed a building boom. New skyscrapers rise to look out over the glittering waters of Lake Michigan, new factories turn out products for shipment over the world's greatest railway complex or across the lake and down the St. Lawrence Seaway to the markets of the world.

MOBSTERS GONE
Rapid growth has brought its problems: overcrowded slums, racial stresses, inadequate public transportation, to name just a few. The days of gangland massacres and spectacular 40-car funeral corteges which followed them may be over, but despite a reorganized police force crime is still high: 512 killings, 11,330 serious assaults, 1,222 rapes and 16,720 robberies were reported in 1966. "The mob"—the gangs that spread violence and corruption through the 1920s and served as the subject of countless movies which still haunt citizens anxious for Chicago's reputation—is said to have drifted away to other cities or into high-interest money-lending or even more respectable businesses. If any city in the United States deserves to be called a meltingpot it is Chicago. Almost one-third of the metropolitan population is Negro. More than 340,000 citizens came direct from Poland or were the children of parents born there. The German element is almost as large and the Italian not far behind. Russia, the Irish Republic, Czechoslovakia and Britain have similar groups in excess of 100,000.

FLOOD FROM SOUTH
The tide of immigration from Europe now has eased. Today's flood is from the southern United States, both black and white. Many of the new arrivals are poor and uneducated, ill-equipped for the complications of urban living. Most companies participate in a program of special training but the rate of absorption is low. "There is plenty of opportunity in Chicago for the determined and intelligent Negro," a colored professional man told me. "Too many young Negroes settle for jobs below their real capabilities because they are so obsessed by the existence of racial discrimination, and feel that it is an insuperable barrier."

Ask the average Chicagoan what words best sum up his city and you get replies like "vital," "dynamic," "most exciting in America," "the city of know-how."

HIGHEST INCOME
Some things they are proud of: 3.8 per cent of the national population produces 5.1 per cent of the gross national product; highest average income in the world and highest employment rate in the United States; world's greatest transportation centre of 20 trunk line railways; world's largest commercial airport handling 16,000,000 scheduled air passengers annually; port of call for 758 deep-sea ships in 1965.

For years Chicago has been known as "The Windy City." The title derives not so much from the gales that periodically sweep around its skyscrapers as from a reputation for boastfulness. Chicagoans cheerfully accept the charge but emphasize that they make their boasts come true. They even take pride in the turbulent weather that can dump more than three feet of snow on the city in a few days, a "better" storm than New York had about the same time. And how did they get rid of the snow? What the clean-up trucks couldn't dump into the lake was sent on flat cars into the southern states to melt.

'Mono' Name Better For Long Title Here

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter got over an attack of infectious mononucleosis in October and is now pregnant. Will the past illness affect her pregnancy in any way? She was told in the hospital that her liver was enlarged but not "infectious." The doctor says she is all better now and she has gone back to work. Do you think too much walking or going up and down stairs will cause a recurrence? Does mono title have anything to do with enlarged liver?—MRS. E.J.

I do not think the mononucleosis will affect the pregnancy at all. "Mono" staggers along under its long, complicated name. If it had a short name, perhaps people could become more familiar with it. It is not a dangerous disease when properly cared for, but it is important because it is so prevalent, and can put some title have anything to do with enlarged liver?—MRS. E.J.

50 YEARS AGO
March 1917
The British House of Commons, after an interesting debate, approved by a majority of 279 votes, legislation that will bring in "votes for women". Premier Lloyd-George's wholehearted acceptance of the recommendations of the Speaker's conference on the issue ensures its early enactment.

March 1907
The trustees of the Mission Creek school district have selected a site for the school building on M. P. G. Stewart's land near the K. L. and O. Company's ranch. A special ratepayers' meeting will be held March 26 to ratify the choice and vote money for the building. The school is expected to have the school in operation by the fall term.

Enlargement of the liver is another aspect, and is a sign that patients must be put to bed. A return to normal size indicates when the patient is on his way to full recovery. If care is taken to avoid complications, there are no after-effects. Hence there is no reason to worry about the pregnancy mentioned by Mrs. E.J.

There can be relapses if a patient does not get enough rest while the disease is active, but there is no reason to worry about recurrence once the attack is at an end.

The question about hepatitis and the liver in this sort of situation is nothing to worry about, and I suspect that Mrs. E. J. may be confusing infectious hepatitis with infectious mononucleosis.

In both diseases, the liver is enlarged. In hepatitis the liver damage can be serious. In mononucleosis, the liver returns to normal.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the purpose of dilation and curettage, and can cancer be found?—MRS. L.W.

The process means dilation to permit curettage or gentle scraping of the uterus, which is done for various reasons. It may be to remove any tumors after a spontaneous abortion, to stop bleeding, to examine for infection or other disease conditions. Examination by internal curettage can show whether cancer cells are present, but that is only one of the purposes of this procedure.

SIR ANTHONY MUSGRAVE

Anthony Musgrave sailed in a British warship into San Francisco harbor and carried back to Victoria a captive bride. But she was a captive of the heart and the only shots fired were by saluting guns, because Musgrave was second governor of the united colonies of British Columbia. Born in 1828 at Antigua in the West Indies, he was the son of a doctor. He entered the colonial service in early life and held various West Indies posts, and subsequently became governor of Newfoundland. Sir John A. Macdonald in 1869 recommended him to Governor Frederick Seymour (who had died in office) as governor of B.C. Prime Minister MacDonald hoped Musgrave would expedite the entrance of British Columbia into Confederation. Musgrave had been a widower for 10 years when he came west and after his appointment arranged for Jeannie Lucinda Field of New York to cross the continent by pullman "palace car" and meet him in San Francisco for a wedding. Victoria was gaily decorated for the arrivals of the newlyweds with flags flying along the route to Government House, and the accompaniment of the peal of the Hook and Ladder company's bell and the roar of saluting guns. Musgrave then settled to the task of taking the colony into Confederation which he did in 1871 on July 20 and ended his term in office expeditiously. He became Lieutenant-governor of Natal in 1872; then governor of South Australia. He was knighted in 1875. He became governor of Jamaica and governor of Queensland, Australia, where he died in 1888. Oil Find Changes Indian Lives

DAWSON CREEK, B.C. (CP) Oil discoveries in the Rainbow Lake area of northwestern Alberta have had a profound impact on the lives of the Slavey Indians.

Oil companies hire Indians to slash surveying rights-of-way and the money they earn is being used to buy new clothes, says Rev. Georges Montigny of the Roman Catholic Assumption Mission northeast of the oil fields. "When the Indians start saving it's tremendous," Father Montigny says. Company donations have enabled the mission school to expand and it now teaches 154 children from kindergarten through Grade 9. A few are beginning to go on to higher education. Agriculture has been dropped from the curriculum. "These people just aren't farmers, they're hunters and trappers," says Father Montigny. "Language is a tremendous barrier for the students. Their native tongue is Slavey, a mixture of the Beaver language and that of the Slave Lake Indians, and is particularly hard to adapt to English."

BIBLE BRIEF

"But straightway Jesus spake unto them, saying, Be of good cheer: it is I, be not afraid." —Matthew 14:27.
In the darkest hour of your night, the day who have you trust will come walking upon the troubled waters of your life to bring you peace.

Personally Speaking

By VEN. D. S. CATCHPOLE, B.A., D.D.

"WHERE'S BABY?" Across the seas I have a niece by marriage who has a peculiar kind of sight. She sees only what is straight before her. She has no side-sight; and so when she came into the room and someone was holding her small child over in a corner, she looked around her, turning her head as she did so, and asked: "Where's Baby?"

I suppose there are many cases of this but I have come across only this one — of the physical kind, that is, I wonder sometimes, however, if this sort of thing is not common after all. Would it not be true to say that there is a sizable number of people who see only what is in front of them and have no side-sight?

To revert to a previous column of mine, what about the people who, in the matter of the Regatta, care only the money in the merchants' tills and who see nothing of the mess, and the smell, and the ruination for a week of the park, and a lot more? One of these days, these promoters are going to go looking about, turning their heads this way and that, and saying: "Where's baby?" by which they could mean the decent reputation which this town should have for law-abidness and cleanliness and freedom to go where people wish.

There are those who are so intent upon having the biggest, and what they are pleased to call "the best", that they do not see that they have ruined what used to be a pleasant home town celebration offering healthy competition and fun. They turn the lake into a noisy enclosure full of power boats which destroy peace and quiet. From what I was told, I gather that people talking in the churches on Sunday in July could not be heard for the infernal racket. Is there not Something Else?

Here I am plagiarizing, J. B. Priestley has an essay with this title: Something Else. He speaks of his day, of course, and refers to political conditions in England, chiefly. He says, with undue humility, that he himself seems constantly to be finding fault and points out that although one gets into good and interesting company, goes to stimulating parties or to well-attended plays, afterwards there seems to be a lack; and he asks the question: "Isn't there something else?"

I would paraphrase his question, and confess that my inspiration is from any advertisement for someone's coffee: "Isn't there something that you've been missing?" Sometime, perhaps, you will make a discovery and will say, "That is the flavor (of life) which I've been missing."

I know there are great satisfactions. I am sure that when the local talent got through with My Fair Lady they had a really great feeling of satisfaction. They had contributed something useful to society. They hadn't gone all out for money. They hadn't sought to draw crowds from Vancouver or places in the United States. They had tried to put over a first class play and had succeeded. They had pleased everyone who saw it. What do the Regatta people feel they have achieved with the present setup? The town is a mess; the park looks like any place would look after a cheap midway had been on it; the townsfolk say, "Well, thank God that's over. Next week we can venture out in comparative safety!" And absentees say, "Now that's over for another year, we can go home!"

Isn't there Something Else?

Something we've been missing? I was asked recently to be one of a panel to deal with the query as to whether the church should find some outlet, other than those used by the service clubs, by means of which it could establish contact with society more closely.

It could come up with nothing world-shaking. However, constantly there came to my mind that while we were busy looking straight in front of us, and with no side-sight, we missed the very things which the church (not the official church but the people who are or ought to be the church) should be doing.

Nothing spectacular. Simple things like living lives which are a credit to the nation; making marriages work; teaching children that there are other things more worth doing than what society constantly plays at all the time. There are those with front sight only who see only the ski-slopes, or the golf course, or curling; you name it and it would apply. I would be willing to bet a good deal that somewhere underneath all the yachty-yachting that goes on about the Four Seasons Playground there could easily be a yearning for Something Else or Something we've been missing.

I could identify that Something but I will not. I would rather that you would think about this for, in the decision which you make, will lie the difference between a blatant, outward, noisy type of society, with qualifications which I won't mention here, and the kind of civilization which, when it passes out of existence, will leave behind it something decent and worth while with great values to inspire the civilization coming up. If you do this, you will be just another like that niece of mine, seeing only what is in front of you. No side-sight, poor dears!

CANADA'S STORY

French Canadians Were Slow To Grow

By BOB BOWMAN

Canada's first census was taken on March 21, 1666, and estimated a population of 3,000, not including Indians. Although colonization had begun in 1604 when De Monts and Champlain went to Acadia, progress had been slow. The Company of New France had been formed in 1627 to develop the colony, but had been disbanded in 1663, with little to show for its efforts. The facts were then, as they are today, that few French citizens were willing to leave their beloved homeland to establish permanent homes in other parts of the world. They were great adventurers, explorers, fur traders, but to stay away forever? Heaven forbid!

It has been estimated that not more than 10,000 citizens of France came to Canada to live permanently. The five million Canadians of French descent who live here now are "made in Canada".

Life was rugged in early Canada, but the "habitants" who lived on the seigneuries were better off than they would have been in France. The French author, La Fontaine, wrote in 1684 that the habitants had more advantages than many so-called "gentlemen" in France. They could engage in sports denied to peasants in Europe. They paid small rents to their seigneurs for their homes, raised their own horses, cattle, other livestock, and poultry. They could go hunting and fishing, although if they caught 12 fish they were expected to give one to their seigneurs.

There was a good deal of social life. The habitants gathered at each others' homes and danced to the music of a fiddle, although always under the supervision of the cure who checked too great abandon. They enjoyed singing the old French folk songs, and some of their own composition. These folk songs still survive in Quebec, even one rejoicing in the death of the Duke of Marlborough, France's terrible enemy, and ancestor of Winston Churchill.

OTHER EVENTS ON MARCH 21:

- 1629 Champlain was appointed lieutenant to Cardinal Richelieu in Canada.
- 1663 Louis Robert was appointed Canada's first Intendant but never came.
- 1719 Debts contracted since 1714 were payable in cash money at half value.
- 1843 To be John A. Macdonald government defeated John Sandfield Macdonald-Sioux government.
- 1895 Federal government ordered Manitoba to restore rights of Roman Catholics to separate schools.
- 1896 A commission was appointed to settle the Manitoba school question.
- 1911 Duke of Connaught was made Governor-General of Canada.
- 1918 Germans began counter-attack that nearly won World War I.

ANN LANDERS

Exhausted Teachers Need Trained Help

Dear Ann Landers: I recall with pleasure the people who wrote to you about how they sang at their own weddings. And then a few weeks later another group wrote to say those people had to be nuts, along with their ministers who allowed such goings on.

I discussed both columns with my friends and some were firmly convinced that you had made up all the letters because people couldn't be that crazy.

It was with delight that I showed these Doubting Thomases the front page of this morning's newspaper. It seems that in San Francisco the wedding of weddings took place. The bride wore black, the maid of honor appeared in the nude and draped herself over the altar. The "worst man" was beahtnik poet, Allan Ginsberg.

The groom said his previous two weddings had been Christian ceremonies and both ended in divorce, so now he was trying the heathen route.

If anyone ever accuses you of making up letters, please tell them about this wedding. —OBSESSIVE OF THE PASSING SCENE

Dear Observer: A person would have to be psychotic to make up all the letters that appear in this space. If I couldn't produce a legitimate column out of 350,000 letters a year, I'd quit.

Dear Ann Landers: An Orlando mother wrote to you recently and complained because the high school sent out a call for mothers to lunch hour. The mother was indignant—said she thought it was nerve of the school to ask mothers to do the teachers' work.

I am a teacher whose lunch hours must be spent watching children, and it is a nerve I eat lunch on fast the other teachers do the same. We supervise 180 students.

Our day begins at 8.15 a.m. and we go straight through to 3:45 p.m. without a five-minute break to powder our noses. By midday we are exhausted, and an exhausted teacher cannot give her students her best.

I agree with the Orlando woman that mothers should not be called to work as volunteers. Supervising students is a real job and trained personnel should be employed by the school system to do this work.—WEST VIRGINIA TEACHER

Dear Virginia: Teachers from every one of the 50 states wrote to express their views on this subject. Almost every person who wrote suggested this solution. In my opinion it is the most logical and the fairest way to resolve the problem.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 15. My brother is 13. The problem is our parents. They were born in a foreign country and although they can speak English, they prefer their native language, even in public.

This is embarrassing. We have begged them to please talk English because everyone looks at us funny.

When we use English at home they get mad and say we get enough English with our friends. They insist that we talk in the foreign language. What is your opinion? —AMERICAN

Dear Americans: If your parents prefer their native tongue I see no cause for criticism—whether at home or in public. You will be happy in years to come that you are able to speak fluently in a second language. Practice! Practice! Practice! You won't regret it.

MINI SKIRTS PLEASE HER

LONDON AP — "I think that I can help many young people find God," said the mini-skirted young wife of a British Methodist minister.

"I think mini-skirts are super," Marjorie Janney continued. "They express the freedom of our age. One can move in a mini-skirt."

"By being modern I feel I can encourage young people to realize that religion does not mean disapproval."

Newspaper pictures of Rev. Denis Janney's shapely 28-year-old wife in a skirt that ended six inches above her knees brought her a bunch of anonymous critical letters.

"We burned the letters," said Mrs. Janney.

A PROUD HUSBAND

"It's not their business what sort of skirt my wife wears," said her husband, whose parish is in southeast London. "It's this sort of intolerance which keeps many people from going to church. I'm proud of my wife and proud to have her a member of my church."

Mrs. Janney, a red-haired model and the mother of a seven-year-old daughter, says since she started wearing short short skirts she has done two television commercials and has been offered two parts in the movies.

Mrs. Janney takes an active part in church life. She gives hours each week to a church youth club, speaks regularly to women's organizations and gives fashion and beauty hints to young wives.

It's Something New For Young Bachelors

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're married, forget it.

If you're not, there's the Boston Tea Party in an old synagogue in Boston, the Never On Friday club in Los Angeles and the Sheri Plaza in Hollywood—an apartment house that advertises "we rent only to playboys and playboys."

Bachelors—male and female—in their 20s and early 30s have moved to the big cities, leaving behind the corner drug stores and church socials. To replace these traditional meeting places, girl-meet-boy apartment houses, bars, resorts and other enterprises are springing up for young singles across the United States from Manhattan's upper east side to southern California's beaches.

Capital Securities in Kansas City has built three apartment houses in the fashionable country club plaza area, hires combos to play the pool Saturday and Sunday afternoons and has filled one building with stewesses from Trans World Airlines, which has its headquarters in Kansas City.

"We've never had a vacancy," says the manager. "We have our own dining hall reserved and the food isn't even on."

In the last year, there have been a half dozen marriages among tenants.

That is one of the big attractions of the new developments—the chance to meet other singles.

Her Job Is To Make Delegates Welcome

OTTAWA (CP) — A crash course in world geography and linguistics is the immediate centennial project of Gwendolyn Blair, who will be hostess to about 50 state delegations visiting the capital in 1967.

"I'm madly trying to familiarize myself with the countries whose heads of states will be visiting," she said in an interview shortly before announcement today of her appointment.

A widow of 58 with grey hair and dark brown eyes, she was executive secretary to State Secretary Judy LaMarsh for three years before joining the federal government's state visits arrangements committee in January.

She will be hostess at 7 Rideau Gate, the imposing grey stone house purchased by the government last spring as the official residence for state visitors.

TO WELCOME GUESTS

She says her duties will be those of any hostess—welcoming the guests, "showing them their rooms, offering the facilities of the house."

The first visitors she will greet will be members of the entourage of Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, who arrives April 30.

Heads of state will stay at Government House, whose gates are across the street from Rideau Gate, just off Sussex Street. Mrs. Blair's guests will be members of their delegations, or their representatives, including prime ministers of the Commonwealth and heads of governments.

Mrs. Blair, childless, has a room in the big two-storey house but she will use it only when visitors are there. The rest of the time she will stay in her own two-storey brick house just around the corner from Rideau Gate.

WILL HAVE HELP

Mrs. Blair will be joined on the permanent staff by a housekeeper and a steward. Household maids will be hired as needed.

She will be responsible for planning menus, based on information about dietary restrictions, allergies and preferences collected by Canada's missions abroad.

Mrs. Blair has travelled Canada coast to coast, both with Miss LaMarsh and as national director of the Women's Liberal Federation from 1948 to 1963.

Born in Montreal, she attended private schools in Ottawa and Brookfield, England, and finished her education with a year in Paris studying French and music.

Brownies, Guides And Rangers Plan Province-Wide Cookie Week

Mrs. J. S. Kendrick, Provincial Commissioner for the B.C. Council of the Girl Guides of Canada, has announced that Cookie Week, the traditional fund-raising campaign for Brownies, Guides and Rangers in B.C., will be held from April 28 to May 6.

Brownies, Guides and Rangers from every corner of the province will set out in groups to sell Girl Guide Cookies. For every package a girl sells, her pack receives seven and one-third cents to be used for pack equipment, handicraft materials, badges and for community service work. A similar share of profits goes into the division treasury to assist with leadership training to help girls chosen to go to national and international camps, and to maintain the division campsites. A small proportion runs the provincial office and helps maintain the provincial 80-acre camp and training centre near Chilliwack named TSOUNA.

The guiding concept teaches girls the wisdom of helping themselves. The fund-raising campaign of the girls selling cookies to provide their own pack needs is a vital part of their training in responsible citizenship.

Bennett Clears Comments Up

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier Bennett Monday qualified his suggestion that some B.C. municipalities are misusing their funds.

"No municipalities have criminally misused their funds," the premier told the B.C. legislature after opposition members pressed for a statement.

Three weeks ago the premier said that "some municipalities misuse their funds... they've caught themselves in their own trap."

The statement came during debate on a Municipal Act amendment that requires municipalities to give top priority to road programs when they receive their provincial per capita grants.

Monday the premier said the grant replaced the one-third of the motor vehicle licence fees, and that was to be used for roads.

Commons Came To Life After Long Bank Debate

OTTAWA (CP)—The curtain came down and the Commons came to life this morning. After more than seven hours' debate on banking legislation the House rose at 12:14 a.m. EST—normal adjournment is 10 p.m.—and several members promptly staged a lively, second overtime session.

The central figure was Jack Horner (PC-Acadia), who had delivered a late-night, 30-minute recap of the Mercantile Bank and Bank of Western Canada troubles and was obviously prepared to continue.

With Commons hopes of completing committee study of the 162-clause bill doomed for Monday night, the government House leader, George McRraith, suggested adjournment. The House rose.

But debate hadn't ended. The Conservative House leader, Michael Starr (PC-Ontario), and

Mr. Horner began exchanging angry words on the Commons floor. Meanwhile, several cabinet ministers and other MPs were converging on Mr. Starr, apparently to ask him why all-party plans for completion of committee study on the bill had bogged down.

OFFERS LEADERSHIP
"Any time you want to be House leader," Mr. Starr told Mr. Horner, loudly enough for MPs and reporters nearby to hear.
"You're on your own from now on," Mr. Starr added.
Mr. Horner said several words in reply but they were lost in the general hubbub. Jean Chretien, parliamentary secretary to Finance Minister Sharp, shouted criticism at Mr. Horner from across the chamber about delay in passing the bill.
Later Mr. McRraith told reporters he is still optimistic the bill will be passed in the Commons today and whickered off to the Senate for quick study and approval there.

That would leave only an interim supply bill on the government's list of items that must be approved before breaking for an Easter recess. There was still hope the recess might come late today or Wednesday.

CLAUSES APPROVED
Before the incident, the Commons approved four clauses of the bill which sets out new rules for chartered bank operations for the next 10 years. MPs still have 40 clauses to approve.
More than five hours was spent on one clause on bank reserves and it prompted three standing votes. A Conservative amendment went down 43 to 6, a Creditiste effort failed 47 to 7 and the clause itself was approved 65 to 8.

The temper of debate heightened in the overtime session on an amendment by Colin Cameron (NDP-Nanaimo - Cowichan-The Islands) to delete a provision prohibiting governments from owning banks.

New Democrats said it was illogical to extend the provision to include the federal government. Ottawa should retain this power and use it to head off any trouble with United States institutions.

Tom Barnett (NDP-Cornwall-Alberni) suggested that Finance Minister Sharp admit the provision was put in the bill because British Columbia was interested in starting a regional bank.

The minister said nothing prevented Parliament from establishing a publicly-owned bank. Mr. Horner asked whether the section would prevent the government from buying Mercantile Bank shares, then selling them to Canadians.

The government recently gave Mercantile, now 100 per cent U.S.-owned, five years to sell off 75 per cent of its shares to residents of Canada. Mr. Sharp said the section in the bill prevents the government owning 10 per cent or more of the shares of any bank.

QUESTIONS DIFFERENCE
Mr. Horner asked why the British International Finance (Canada) Ltd. group recently was given 10 years to unload its Bank of Western Canada shares while Mercantile was given only five years.

Mr. Sharp said Mercantile doesn't have to dispose of any shares. "If it wishes to remain small, it may do so." The western bank was new and 10 years was a reasonable amount of time.

Mr. Horner said he firmly believes "we westerners were sucked in" along with James Coyne, former governor of the Bank of Canada, who resigned recently as president of the Bank of Western Canada after a dispute with the BIF group.

Start of the bank debate was delayed earlier Monday when Reid Scott (NDP-Toronto Danforth) sought to have regular Commons business set aside to allow debate on the "serious housing crisis." The motion was ruled out of order.

The Senate Monday gave approval in principle to a bill designed to curb the flow of hate literature. The bill, which would limit speeches, inciting hatred on racial or color grounds, was sent to committee for further study.

Man Who Planned Invasion Dies In Britain At Age Of 73

NORTHWOOD, England (AP)—The death was announced Monday of Lt.-Gen. Sir Frederick Morgan, who made the initial plans for the Allied invasion of Normandy in the Second World War and later served as deputy chief of staff to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Morgan was 73. Relatives said he died at his home here Sunday of an undisclosed illness.

A career soldier, Morgan was called on in March, 1943, to plan for the invasion of northwest Europe and attack the heart of Germany with a force of 100 divisions.

"It won't work but you must make it work," he was told.

When Eisenhower took over as supreme Allied commander at the start of 1944, Morgan's plans were recast, but he always has been credited with overcoming some of the biggest problems of the invasion.

Morgan was knighted for distinguished services in planning the invasion. Eisenhower made him a commander of the U.S. Legion of Merit. He also held the American Distinguished Service Medal and the French Legion of Honor.

In September, 1945, Morgan was appointed chief of operations in Germany of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration with responsibility for coping with at least 1,000,000 displaced persons homeless after the war.

Born in Germany he came to Edenwood, Sask., in 1928. He was married there in 1932 and operated a farm for several years before arriving in Westbank in 1944.

He ran an orchard in the Green Bay district until he retired in November last year, when the orchard was sold and he moved to Boucherie Road in Lakeview Heights.

Mrs. Daynard was born at St. Joseph's Island, Ont. She received her education there and was married on the island. Mr. and Mrs. Daynard moved to Sylvan Lake, Alta., in 1907 to homestead. Later they returned to their home town where they lived until 1919.

In 1919 they moved to Vancouver and came to Kelowna in 1928. Mr. Daynard died in 1956.

The funeral service was held from Day's Chapel of Remembrance with Rev. J. H. James officiating. Burial was in the Kelowna cemetery.

FRANK STOCKLEY

A long-time resident of Rutland passed away at Shaughnessy Hospital, March 11. Frank Stockley, who at one time owned an orchard on the Rutland bench in partnership with his brother Percy, died after a lengthy illness. He came to Canada before the First World War, but was in California when war broke out, and went from there to Britain to join up.

He served with the Royal Warwicks in France and Belgium. He was born in the old Roman town of Bochester, in Oxfordshire and was 74 at the time of his death.

A crack shot, he served with the Warwicks as a sniper, was wounded in a leg and discharged during the war. He sold out his interest in the orchard in Rutland to his brother and for some time lived in semi-retirement on Lethbridge Road, suffering increasing lameness from his war disability.

He joined the Roman Catholic Church and was for a time associated with Westminster Abbey at Mission City and became Brother Francis, a member of the Oblate Order of the Benedictines.

Later he became a complete invalid and was cared for at a Rutland home for a time, going to Shaughnessy Hospital about two years ago.

Burial took place at Westminster Abbey, Mission, March 14. Surviving are his elder brother, Sydney, an Executive, England and Percy in Kelowna.

WHY WE
GANT

There's more than fabric superiority in Gant. In addition, "needled-into the warp and woof of every Gant shirt" — there's flair-fit show — three vital invariants that make all the difference when a man wears a Gant.

We chose Gant because they take shirt making seriously. They're hard to please (like we are) when it comes to fit of collar, its roll, its profile — how much it shows above the suit collar. They're fastidious about the way the body of the shirt drapes and folds. All must integrate to achieve that viable ingredient which gives comfort and aplomb. In substance, Gant shirts are keyed to the discerning tastes of well groomed men who appreciate quality. These men are our customers.

DRAGGED FROM SIT-IN

(AP Wirephoto)

London policemen drag out an unidentified student from sit-in at the London School of Economics last week. More than 300 students were protesting the suspension of two student leaders who demonstrated against appointments of a Rhodesian to the staff. School authorities blamed the troubles on what they described as "American anarchists." One of the suspended leaders is Marshall Bloom, 22, of Denver, Colorado.

More Control Of LSD Use

OTTAWA (CP) — Solicitor General Pennell confirmed Monday that the federal cabinet is considering steps for further control of the drug LSD. But he declined in the Commons to indicate to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker whether legislation will be placed before Parliament ahead of an expected Easter recess.

Mr. Diefenbaker urged immediate action to stop what he called a series of tragedies culminating in an incident Monday in Toronto.

He apparently was referring to the death Saturday of a 20-year-old music student, John Stern, whose body was discovered below an 80-foot viaduct. The boy's father blamed favorable publicity for the hallucinatory drug for the death.

'Student-To-Student' Tactic Employed In Edmonton Attack

EDMONTON (CP) — Two University of Alberta law students will visit high schools in the province this spring in a "student-to-student" attack on barriers to higher education.

The pilot study, called the High School Visitation Research Project, will be sponsored by the Students' Union and the provincial department of youth. It will try to interest high school students in further training and to find out why more of them do not continue their schooling.

"The whole idea of high school visitation is to sell the students on post-secondary education," said Dale Enarson, education student and organizer of the project.

The Students' Union had been concerned for five years that qualified students were missing opportunities. But there was little information on which to base action.

The project's researchers will try to discover how well-informed the teen-agers are about training facilities and finances, how much encouragement they have from teachers and from home, and how well an expanded visitation program could work.

James Matkin and Garth Dymond, both in their second year of law school, were chosen from a dozen qualified applicants to conduct the study.

SOME ARE ANXIOUS
They will visit three rural Alberta high schools, an isolated northern school, a small central Alberta school and a southern Alberta school, in April and May. A large Edmonton school will be visited in September.

Armed with information on the province's universities, agricultural colleges and nursing and technical schools, the researchers will co-operate with the schools' guidance services.

Students will be invited to talk voluntarily, "on a very personal basis, outside the authority structure of the school," Mr. Enarson said. Scholarship information will be provided, because "a lot of kids are not aware of financial resources available to them."

The college students would also be able to answer questions about university life.

"It's quite a jump from high school to university and these kids are rightfully a little anxious about what it's like. This is something this project can give that others can't."

A grant from the department of youth will pay $7,000 of the project's estimated $8,000 expenses for travel and office costs and salaries for the two researchers. The Students' Union has appropriated the remaining $1,000.

"It's a realistic project," said Mr. Enarson. "We aren't intending to preach a sermon, but to get a concrete basis for work in the future."

"A student-to-student approach outside the authority of the school could do a lot to encourage kids to continue their training."

Anti-Missiles 'Not Effective'

WASHINGTON (CP) — Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara has reiterated that Russian anti-missile missiles cannot be effective and has said that should the Soviets attack the U.S. with nuclear weapons, a U.S. counter-attack would kill 120,000,000 Russians.

He made these assessments when he testified in secret before the Senate armed services and appropriations committees in January. Censored transcripts released Saturday night showed McNamara repeatedly varying questions of senators who feel the U.S. should start promptly the construction of tow weeks in August, early Nike X anti-ballistic missile defenses.

Students Shown Effects Of Alcohol On Driving

By MAUREEN WILLIS

Last week, was the last week for much action at Immaculata. We are now in the midst of exams, and buried nose-deep in heaps of text books.

However, on Wednesday, members of our Grade 12 class appeared on the weekly television program Family Focus. On the panel were Father Francis Godderis and Mrs. D. Hill from the Mental Health Clinic here in Kelowna.

The topic under discussion was Preparation for Separation. Numerous adults were also in the audience and a number contributed to the discussion.

We had two visitors at IHS last week. Monday, Mr. Higgins spoke to the senior students on the effects of alcohol on driving and reactions. A newly produced film was shown with expert drivers taking part in a special driving test.

Drivers were timed driving through the course, then they ran through it again but this time with a certain percentage of alcohol content in their systems.

In most cases drivers became reckless. We all took careful note of this—especially the older boys.

The second guest speaker came on Thursday, Mrs. Curtis, a physiotherapist from the Kelowna General Hospital.

Mrs. Curtis spoke on her career to the senior girls. Slides were shown of various treatments given to individual patients. All the girls found the talk very interesting.

Friday being Saint Patrick's Day, the students were excused from wearing their uniforms. But were expected to wear something green.

On arriving at school on Friday morning, one could see a mass of varied green colors throughout the classrooms. Even the teachers sports some article of green.

The United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth was held Friday night at Immaculata, sponsored by the Rebekahs of Kelowna.

The contest was won by Linda Turri of Immaculata, and the runner-up was Vicky Gibbs of Kelowna Senior Secondary. This Thursday both Linda and Vicky will take part in the finals in Vernon.

Also this Thursday, the students and teachers will begin a well-earned Easter holiday. Happy Easter!

Teen Couple Not To Blame

VANCOUVER (CP)—George Leong, 66, a Vancouver restaurant owner, told police in January he had been robbed by two youths who also set his business on fire. Monday, Leong was given a one-day jail sentence, fined $1,000 and given a two-year suspended sentence on a $2,000 good behavior bond on charges of arson and attempting to defraud an insurance company by filing a false claim.

DEALER JAILED

NANAIMO (CP)—Faisal Abdel Bari Muhammad Darwish Shaway, 19, a Jordanian rug pedlar now living in Edmonton was given a 30-day jail sentence Monday after being found guilty of selling rugs in Nanaimo without a licence.

TWO-MONTH SENTENCE

CRANBROOK (CP)—Patrick Germaine was given a two-month sentence Monday when a Supreme Court jury found him guilty of criminal negligence after a shooting incident Jan. 1. He was originally charged with attempted murder in the wounding of Wilbur Pocha with a .22-calibre revolver.

SUITCASES STOLEN

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two suitcases containing clothing and jewelry valued at $2,500 were stolen from a Vancouver hotel parking lot Monday. Alex Wennerston of Courtenay said he left the car locked while he went into the hotel to make a long distance phone call.

Spring Activity Swinging At George Elliot Secondary

"In March, the wind doth blow, To make your feet and fingers glow!"

And blow she does. The leaves on the trees are waving; the washing on the clothesline is dancing; and the hair on our heads is flying; truly the season of wind!

And keeping in tune with everything is George Elliot.

All the shrubs and trees surrounding the school are beginning to sprout new buds, the grass on the fields is starting to turn a spring-green, and the gurgling brook is beginning to rise.

Not to be left behind Mother Nature are the energetic students and teachers.

Mr. McIntyre is out on the fields morning, noon, and night, training the many budding track stars.

Mr. Greer had the volleyball team in practice whenever possible. They were preparing for the Ogoogo Invitational Volleyball Tournament March 17 and 18.

The volleyball team will be attending the B.C. Volleyball Championships during the Easter holidays. The whole district is behind them all the way and are sure of another magnificent performance like last year, when they won the B.C. championship.

The team is in good condition even though one of our top players is in the hospital. Everybody in school hopes that Eric Greer will get better soon and return to the fold.

On Saturday the Junior Girls' Basketball Team journeyed to Oliver to play in the Valley Finals. The girls did not fail to clinch the championship. However they did place third, and we send them our heartfelt congratulations.

Sho-Bits '67 was a success!

And was it a success, a better performance could not be found. The actors and actresses, dancers and singers, directors and producers, stagehands and a d make-up artists, and last but not least the fabulous Boris and His Batmen gave a splendid and enjoyable night of entertainment to all of the many who attended.

You may have noticed the articles in the Daily Courier that were written by "George Elliot, Grade 10". These compositions were written by various students and were submitted by their teacher, Mrs. F. Snowden.

We hope that you enjoy them and find them an insight into world of the teen-ager of today. Again time closes in, and we must lay down our pens and turn off the light. Until next week — cheerio from George Elliot.

Almost Anything Goes Or Worn In Vancouver Island School

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C. (CP) — Students may smoke, boys may wear their hair as long as they want, and girls are allowed to wear the shortest mini-skirts.

That's the way things are at the high school in this community on the east coast of Vancouver Island.

The school is experimenting with the idea of getting things done without imposing restrictions or registering disapproval. And so teachers do the teaching and leave discipline to the individual student.

Students may skip classes whenever they desire. There are no detentions, no punishments. As things have turned out, only a few students actually miss classes and the reason is usually that they have something special they want to study.

The boys may wear their hair like the Beatles, Vul Bryner or Alley Oop and, if able and so inclined, they may grow beards.

There are no rules on the way girls must dress. But girls who might have worn mini-skirts as a form of protest are likely to wear rather conservative clothes. There are few mini-skirts.

ALLOWED TO SMOKE

Gone is the thrill of racing around the next building, out of view of the school, for a cigarette. A smoking room has been set up for senior students.

There is also more freedom for teachers, and authorities say this has enabled the school to attract top talent.

"Each teacher decides whether or not he will set exams, how long they will be, and when they will be written," says John Young, the principal.

"Teaching methods, letter grades and promotions are all matters for the professional judgment of the teacher."

He says one of the major complaints of high school teachers in British Columbia is that they often must instruct courses that are far from their specialty.

"Our teachers are not required to teach in subject areas for which they have not been academically prepared."

Announce New Healing Substance: Shrinks Piles

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most important of all—results were so thorough that the improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dynal) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue.

Now Bio-Dynal is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Free Thought Threatened

VANCOUVER (CP) — Retiring University of B.C. president John B. Macdonald said Tuesday night students who want to run the university are threatening the basis of academic freedom.

"A university cannot be a weapon of social reform," he said. "The only pressure should be to make a community a more informed one."

Dr. Macdonald said the students that use LSD, write poetry, sport beards and wear dirty clothes are in the minority.

"The educators are short on knowledge and maturity and they need more modesty."

Township Problems Outlined

TORONTO (CP)—Rapid population growth, domination of its economic and industrial sector, political apathy and its small-town-oriented churches are the basic causes of Burlington's problems, a community research report says.

The report, by the Canadian Council of Churches, was prepared by 500 volunteers who spent 6,200 man-hours interviewing and organizing the facts last summer.

The report describes Burlington, situated in Ontario's so-called Golden Horseshoe between Hamilton and Toronto, as an "affluent community" without most of the poverty and slum problems in many other urban environments.

A rural-oriented town at the end of the Second World War, Burlington has grown ten-fold in the last 15 years to a population of 67,000.

Courtroom In Riot

NEW YORK (AP) — Rev. Willie Johnson, accused of supporting his family in high style on anti-poverty funds, appeared in court Monday and a near-riot broke out.

Supporters of the Bronx Evangelistic Church minister screamed "He's innocent!" "You're crucifying him!" as Johnson appeared to plead to a 145-count indictment. He was accused of taking $7,760 in anti-poverty funds.

Johnson, 37, has been accused of paying high salaries to himself, his parents and his sister and remodeling their apartment with funds he obtained to run training classes in his church basement.

When some 50 Johnson supporters stood up in Bronx Supreme Court and started waving their arms and shouting, Justice Joseph Sarafite ordered the courtroom cleared and stalked from the bench.

Once the courtroom was cleared, Sarafite returned to the bench.

Leila Smith, 62, a member of Johnson's congregation who said she is the mother of the former middleweight boxing champion, Sugar Ray Robinson, was designated by the supporters to apologize to the court.

"I am sure the people thought this was the only way they knew how to express themselves," she said.

Sarafite thanked her and adjourned the pleading to April 11.

New System 'A Threat'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nuclear physicist says large-scale use by either the United States or the Soviet Union of anti-ballistic missile defence systems would threaten survival of all inhabitants of the northern hemisphere.

But Dr. E. J. Sternglass' contention that mid-air explosions of defensive weapons and incoming missiles would result in massive radioactive fallout was disputed today by another nuclear physicist, Dr. Ralph E. Lapp.

Lapp said the U.S. ABM system — and presumably the Soviet Union's as well — essentially would rule out deposit of lethal quantities of fallout on the earth from the explosion of nuclear-tipped ABMs aloft.

Sternglass, past chairman of the Pittsburgh, Pa., chapter of the Federation of American Scientists, declared:

"This danger arises from the great increase in the total amount of radioactive materials which would necessarily be released into the atmosphere by the multi-megaton ABM missiles required to destroy the incoming warheads."

Lapp, who worked on the wartime A-bomb development but no longer is associated with the government's nuclear program, told a reporter he believes Sternglass' view is based on an incorrect interpretation of how radioactive debris — released by an exploding ABM — would be deployed.

Promoter's Sentence Amended

TORONTO (CP) — A nine-month sentence to stock promoter Viola MacMillan has been amended to an indeterminate sentence not to exceed nine months.

Judge Garth Moore says he amended the original sentence given last Friday because of a provision of the Prisons and Reformatory Act says a woman, unless sentenced to penitentiary, must be given an indeterminate sentence.

The amendment makes Mrs. MacMillan eligible for parole at any time, said defence lawyer Joseph Sedgwick. Judge Moore would not comment on parole status.

Mrs. MacMillan, 62, spent 90 minutes in jail Friday before her husband George arrived with $15,000 cash bail to free her.

She was convicted of wash trading in shares of Golden Arrow Mining Co. Ltd. and was fined $10,000 in addition to the jail sentence.

Vietnam Appeal Lost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court refused Monday by an 8-to-1 vote to review the conviction of a Brooklyn, N.Y., man who refused to report for military induction on the claim that the war in Vietnam violates international treaties.

Justice William O. Douglas, the only dissenter, said David Henry Mitchell III is entitled to a hearing to determine whether the war is a "war of aggression" within the meaning of the 1945 Treaty of London.

The majority made no comment in rejecting Mitchell's appeal. The 24-year-old bookstore clerk was convicted last year in U.S. district court in Hartford, Conn., of "knowingly and wilfully" failing to report for induction. He was sentenced to up to five years in federal prison.

Under the London treaty, signed by the U.S., "waging of a war of aggression" is a "crime against peace" imposing "individual responsibility."

Mitchell, claiming the Vietnam war is a war of aggression within the meaning of the treaty, said he could be held responsible for participating in it even though he was ordered to report for induction.

Mitchell claimed he had a moral and legal duty under the international charter which governed the post-Second World War Nazi war-crimes trial in Nuremberg to refuse to co-operate with the draft.

Speaker Replies

OTTAWA (CP) — Commons Speaker Lucien Lamoureux said Monday he has replied to Mr. Justice Leo Landreville's request to address the Commons, but would not disclose the contents of his reply.

On Sunday Mr. Lamoureux said in Cornwall, Ont., the decision would be up to the Commons and not to the Speaker alone.

Mr. Justice Landreville, whose removal from the Ontario Supreme Court bench has been recommended by a parliamentary committee, cited a precedent from British history in support of his plea to be heard by Parliament.

In Toronto Sunday Mr. Justice Landreville said he had sent telegrams asking permission to address both the Commons and the Senate.

Senate Speaker Sidney J. Smith said today he has not received a telegram from the judge.

Service Important

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet economist says the principle that "the customer is always right" should be introduced in the Soviet Union.

Dr. Leonid Kantorovich wrote a lengthy plea in Monday's issue of the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda for a better deal for consumers. Publication by Pravda indicates that Kantorovich's ideas are being considered by authorities. He deplores what he calls the way of thinking about consumers in the Soviet Union dating from Stalin's time and says personal needs and comforts are neglected in the interest of producing the most possible factories and machines.

"In many cases getting the necessities of daily life turns out to be a difficult and unpleasant procedure. Much in the field of services does not satisfy the increased needs of Soviet citizens."

"A man feels directly the success of his economy through the conditions of daily life."

Kantorovich urges retail trade outlets and service industries to get away from indifference to consumers and their wishes.

RUNNING ALONG WITH THE GREATEST OF EASE

The track that should make great runners even greater, will be assembled in the Kelowna Memorial Arena Friday for the one-day B.C. Interior Age and Open Classification

Track Meet Saturday. The unit was designed by Ron Davies and features a unique banking on the inside of the runway. The meet begins at 10 a.m. Saturday. Finals start at 7 p.m.

Banked Track Helps Runners

By RICHARD VIVONE

How fast can a man run? In the endless battle against time, man has succeeded in moving faster and faster, lowering record upon record. Galloping over everything from dirt roads to cinder tracks to concrete runways, the quest for greater speed continues.

Take, for example, the 100-yard dash. In the 1936 Olympics, Jesse Owens of the U.S. ran the distance in 9.4 seconds. Thirty years later, Canadian Harry Jerome of Vancouver tied the world record held by American Bob Hayes — 9.1 seconds. Jerome also ran the 100 yards in 9.2 seconds twice in 1962.

In the mile run, the Kansas cyclone Jim Ryan broke the tape in 3:51.3 in 1966. Consider that since the first four-minute mile in 1954 by the English medical student Roger Bannister, track men have chopped 8.1 seconds off the clock.

HOW FAST NEXT?

Now the goal of every 100-yard man is 9.0 seconds and for all milers, 3:50 is the next milestone. From there, what is next?

Athletes today have the advantage of better training methods, special energy-producing foods and are superior physically to the early century runners.

But, man will reach a peak above which he cannot climb by physical means alone. He will need help.

And steps have already been taken in that direction. Ron Davies, a design draftsman and former track star, has come up with a new type of track that will give another edge when battling the clock. Davies began work on a plywood track in March, 1965, and incorporated into it what he felt were the best features of indoor tracks he had run on and eliminated their deficiencies.

The first action on the track took place in Vancouver at the Agrodome where the Achilles International Athletics Society sponsored three indoor meets on Feb. 18 and 19. Seven world records were broken, plus 17 Canadian open marks.

The track is administered by the B.C. Centennial Committee and will be made available to track and field groups throughout the province at no cost other than freight and assembly. Kelowna is its next stop.

HERE SATURDAY

Competitors in the B.C. Open and Age Classification Championships to be held here Saturday will run on this track being set up in the Memorial Arena.

Portability and versatility are the major features of the track. By removing some of the panels, the size can be altered for installation in 13 different arenas in B.C.

Full size is more than 217 feet long and 100 feet wide. It can be reduced to 180 by 85 feet.

The banked lanes are a distinctive advantage of the track. On most indoor tracks, only the outside lanes are banked sufficiently to accommodate the runners' tendency to run uphill when entering a curve.

The new plywood track has a double banking; the slope declining on the inside of the curve and rises on the outside.

The downhill curve of the inside track eliminates the tendency to run uphill and the runner can maintain full speed. He no longer has to expend energy slowing down on curves to counteract the outward thrust of centrifugal force.

The total layout includes a 60-yard sprint track down the axis of the oval, with separate broad jump and pole vault runs set off to the side.

The new portable track will enable winter regional meets to be held in many areas of the province for the first time.

Goalers Ambushed By Scoring Guns

MONTREAL (CP) — National Hockey League sharpshooters declared war on the league's goalkeepers last week and when it was all over, a total of 74 goals were scored in nine games, the highest scoring output of any week this season.

The previous high was 66 goals in 10 games during the week ending Sunday, Nov. 27. Montreal Canadiens' line of centre Henri Richard, left winger Dave Balon and right winger Leon Rochefort, a successful trio in Montreal's Stanley Cup final against Detroit Red Wings last season, was reunited for the first time since early in the season.

The result was that the three players picked up a total of 19 points, including nine by Richard, who topped the performance with a three-goal effort Sunday against Chicago Black Hawks, his fifth three-goal game in his career.

Richard also had two other goals and four assists in Montreal's three games and Rochefort scored three goals and added two assists while Balon had two goals and three assists.

Meanwhile, Stan Mikita of the Hawks continued to pursue records. With 92 points in the individual scoring race, he is six short of a record for most points in a season, set by teammate Bobby Hull last year.

Hull is second with 77 points, including his league-leading 51 goals, the third time he has reached the 50-goal level in his career. He has six games remaining to break his record of 54 goals set last season.

Norm Ullman of Detroit stands third with 61 points, no more than teammate Gordie Howe.

When the shooting and scoring was over Sunday night, second place in the standings remained uncertain. The Maple Leafs climbed into a tie for second place with the Rangers, each with 67 points, 20 fewer than the champion Black Hawks.

The Canadiens are in fourth place with 65 points while the Red Wings are all but eliminated from the playoffs with 54 points, 11 fewer than the Canadiens with only six games remaining to play a Montreal win or a Detroit loss will eliminate the Wings. Boston is last with 44 points.

Chicago's netminding combination of veteran Glenn Hall and Denis DeJordy, continues to lead in the race among goalkeepers with 15 goals against, nine fewer than the Rangers.

John Ferguson of the Canadiens continues as the individual penalty leader with 160 minutes, while the Canadiens lead the team penalties with 817 minutes.

No Goals By Big Line Prompts Line Changes

VIENNA (CP) — Coach Jackie McLeod revamped his puncheon main forward line and gave young Wayne Stephenson of Fort William, Ont., a crack at goal as Canada's unbeaten Nationals faced a fired-up West German team in their third world hockey start today.

McLeod looked for more firepower when he switched wings on the line centred by Montreal's Gary Dineen. The line produced only two goals in Canada's wins over East Germany and Finland. Dineen himself hasn't garnered a point.

Billy MacMillan of Charlotte-town was replaced at right wing by Ottawa-born Ray Cadieux, a chartered accountant who had been warming the bench.

Jean Cusson, a native of Verdun, Que., the team's highest scorer in Canada, remained at left wing.

McLeod rested Seth Martin of Trail, B.C., for the big games still to come. Martin turned in good performances against the East Germans and Finns, who kept him busy enough to rate a bit of rest. He allowed a total of four goals. Canada defeated East Germany 6-3 and Finland 5-1.

BAUER UNDISTURBED

Martin had to work hard against the Finns because of his team's many defence lapses, but team adviser Rev. David Bauer didn't seem disturbed about the performance Sunday.

"We've been slow getting off the mark," Father Bauer said. "But remember that some of these fellows are just recovering from bouts of flu and the boys who had examinations to write came late and are still getting used to the atmosphere."

The Roger Bourbonnais-Tod Hargreaves - Addy Tambellini line has been the most productive, with six of Canada's 11 goals and five of 13 assists.

The Fran Huck-Morris Mott-Marshall Johnson line has three goals and three assists. Mott, of Creelman, Sask., has a slight soreness in one leg and Johnston, of Birch Hills, Sask., has been feeling off peak.

The Nationals face the toughest part of the schedule after Thursday's start against the United States. Saturday Canada plays Czechoslovakia and then Russia on Monday. A week from Wednesday, March 29, the Canadians meet Sweden. That is the final day of the 12-day tournament.

For Stephenson today marked his first start in a world tournament. The 21-year-old student at University College in Winnipeg once turned down a pro career with Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League.

Canada lags in goals

The Canadians are tied with Russia and Czechoslovakia for first place in the eight-country championship section, each with two wins and four points, but the Canadians are lagging in the scoring column.

There were only two games played Monday in the championship round - robin. Sweden defeated West Germany 3-1 on a pair of third-period goals by Carl Goran-Oberg and Czechoslovakia shut out East Germany 6-0.

Russia has a 15-4 record in the scoring column. The Czechs moved ahead of Canada and are 12-2 while the Canadians are 11-4.

At this stage, the figures mean little. But at the end of the tournament they could mean a lot if there are ties. It depends on the circumstances, and how many countries are involved.

ALL PLAY TODAY

All eight countries see action today in the top bracket, with the Czech - American match probably the most interesting of the four on tap. The Canadians are expected to handle the West Germans and the Russians will be looking to fatten their averages at the expense of the East Germans.

Today's schedule (Times EST): Russia vs. E. Germany 4 a.m. Sweden vs. Finland 8 a.m. Canada vs. W. Germany 11 a.m. Czech vs. U.S.A. 2:30 p.m.

Canada Bombs Norway 17-8 In Scotch Cup Playoffs

PERTH, Scotland (CP) — Canada's Alfie Phillips Jr. scored his third straight victory in the world curling championships today, a decisive 17-8 win over Norway which had taken two on the first end.

The United States also won its third - round match, 11-4 over West Germany, to stay even with Canada on top of the round-robin tournament.

In other games today, Scotland rebounded from Monday's loss to the U.S. with an easy 21-7 victory over France and Sweden, skipped by Bob Woods, a Canadian native, walloped Switzerland 21-1.

Canada and the U.S. remain unbeaten after three rounds. Scotland and Sweden have 2-1 won - lost records, Switzerland and West Germany are 1-2 and Norway and France are winless after three starts.

Phillips feels his Toronto rink is still adjusting to the conditions but he has no complaints. "We are getting sharper every time out," he said. "I would like to see us hit our peak Thursday."

In Thursday's final, the top four rinks play off for the championship, which has been taken home by Canadian rinks seven times in its eight - year existence.

In the U.S.-Germany match today it was a battle between the oldest and the youngest skips in the competition. Bruce Roberts, a native of Pilot Mount, Man., now living in Seattle, is only 24, while Germany's David Lampl is 69. Another of the American curlers, lead Doug Walker, is also a native of Pilot Mount, Man.

PERTH, Scotland (CP) — Line score in the third round of the world curling championships: Canada 912 022 023 050 - 17 Norway 200 100 100 202 - 8

Cooper had beaten Zora in 10 rounds in 1958.

"When they met again in December of 1961 in London," said Swift, "Zora weighed 195 pounds and was sharp as a razor. He knocked out Cooper in the second round. He was great that night. He can beat Clay."

Swift, Folley and trainer Johnny Hart are among the very few in town who believe the 34-year-old No. 1 contender has a chance against the undefeated Clay at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night.

Folley said he will weigh between 200 and 205.

HAS 40 KOs

A pro 13½ years and unbeaten in his last 12 fights, Folley has a 74-74 win-loss-draw record including 40 knockout victories. He has been stopped five times.

In boxing circles they whisper: "Folley blows the big ones. He doesn't have the heart. He'll freeze against Clay."

Clay, who has a 28-0 record including 22 knockouts, said after his last workout Monday that Folley might go 15 rounds. Clay expects to weigh about 205.

Penalties in minutes: Montreal 817, Boston 732, Chicago 689, Toronto 653, Detroit 628, New York 618.

WORLD HOCKEY SCOREBOARD

VIENNA (CP) — Sweden recovered from a 1-0 first-period deficit to blast Finland 5-1 in the world hockey championship tournament here today.

It was the third straight loss for the Finns, who lost to Canada by the same score Sunday.

Sweden, always a title contender in recent years, is virtually out of the championship tournament because of a 4-3 loss to the United States Saturday in its first game.

Veteran Ulf Sterner paced the Swedes with two goals against Finland.

Russia's slick hockey team overran East Germany 12-0 today and took another step towards retaining the world title.

The score was the biggest in the world championship tournament thus far. Viktor Polupov, centre of the Russian squad, led the way with four goals and two assists.

The Russians, who have won the title for the last four years, moved on to six points from three games with a 27-4 goals record.

Czechoslovakia and Canada, their closest rivals, had four points from two games and were scheduled to play later today, the Czechs against the United States and the Canadians against West Germany.

Canada's Stand Explanation Brings Cry Of 'Murderer'

VICTORIA (CP)—Liberal MP Warren Allmand was jeered and called a murderer when he tried to explain Canadian policy on Vietnam to a peace seminar.

Mr. Allmand of Montreal was given a hostile reception during his speech and was booed and hissed when he said no Canadian arms sold to the United States are earmarked for Vietnam.

"Of course we know a lot of them are being used in Vietnam," he said. "But if we stop sending these arms the war would not end and Canada's role as negotiator in the conflict would end."

"But our hands would be clean" and "murderer" was shouted from the floor of 250 delegates.

Later Sunday, the seminar approved a resolution opposing war in Vietnam and urging the Canadian government to discontinue its role in the conflict.

Mr. Allmand was asked and agreed to take the motion to Ottawa.

In another session of the seminar, sponsored by the University of Victoria campus committee for peace in Vietnam, Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington said the U.S. would stay in Vietnam "as long as it is necessary to protect the integrity of the country."

He said the U.S. is seeking to create a balance of forces in Asia to counter Chinese aggression and that all Asian nations except communist countries are supporting the American policy.

Professor Mordcai Breinberg of Simon Fraser University in Burnaby said the U.S. has failed to win political victory in South Vietnam and now is trying to impose a military win.

He denounced the "hoary myth of Chinese aggression and menace" calling it a "non-fact."

Reverend Stephen Fritchman of the First Unitarian Church of Los Angeles was the only speaker to receive a standing ovation.

"The material well-being of our people has become our highest priority in the U.S.," he said. "Industrial capitalism has become our new religion."

"Only the young people and the Negroes have resisted or rejected the holy faith of wealth at any price—and that includes Vietnam."

He called on the U.S. to withdraw from Vietnam despite American fear of losing face.

"There is a kind of prestige our nation should not mind losing."

Opening lead—four of diamonds.

Bridge would be a much simpler game if, every time you had to make an unusual play to make or break a contract, some kind soul would come along and ring a bell to warn you to take your time and be especially careful.

The trouble with these situations is that they usually sneak up on you unawares, and the first thing you know your opponent is shining passes you by and it is then too late to do anything about it.

Let's say you have the East cards and your dear partner leads a diamond against three notrump. Declarer plays low from dummy and you win with the queen and return a low diamond to the ace.

Declarer now leads a club from dummy and it does not matter whether you go up with the ace or let partner win with the club with the king. In either case, the only tricks you get are two clubs and two diamonds and South winds up making three notrump.

Now let's go back to trick one and assume that this kind soul were talking about rang a bell loud and clear immediately after South played the nine of diamonds from dummy.

In that case, you would play the eight on the nine, not only as a signal to partner to continue the suit whenever he got in, but also to make it possible for your diamonds to be established before your one and only entry—the ace of clubs—was forced out.

If you made this unusual play, South would go down regardless of how he continued. You would score three diamonds and two clubs, assuming West won the first club lead, and South would have no one to blame for his defeat except your good friend the bell-clinger.

But, of course, if you made this play without your friend's assistance at all, that would be even better.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
ORIGINALITY and a spirit of enterprise will pay off now, so if you've had some ideas you've wanted to act upon, but have hesitated, this will be the time to try them out. Be realistic about such undertakings, however. Don't let enthusiasm cause you to overreach your limitations.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, a bright year awaits you if you have made the most of your planetary influences which have governed your occupation and financial interests since the 1st of February—and will continue to do so. This is no time to let up in effort since, as of yesterday, you entered an excellent 6-and-a-half week period which will enable you to increase your monetary interests. Next good cycles on the fiscal score: The last two weeks in July, the weeks between September 15th and October 8th, and from October 29th through November 15th. Consolidate gains then and wait until February 1st, of next year, for any further expansion of monetary interests. A truly excellent cycle, beginning then, will last for at least two months. Just two admonitions, however: Don't speculate in November and January, and do avoid extravagance during the first and last weeks of August.

Most propitious periods for advancing job interests: The first 17 days of July, all of September (but don't venture into new fields then), the first week of October, mid-November, late December and all of next February will be remarkably generous to creative workers, although the entire year ahead promises to be generally good. Domestic and social interests will be governed by fine aspects for most of the next 12 months, but do try to avoid friction with family and friends in late June, during the second week of September, in mid-October and mid-December. Most propitious periods for romance: May, August and mid-January; travel: mid-June, the last two weeks in August, early September, and the weeks between December 15th and January 15th.

A child born on this day will be endowed with a fine mind, artistic leanings and, paradoxically, excellent business acumen.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS

In the contract dispute between Local 999 International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the West Kootenay Power and Light Company the union has requested a strike vote which will be conducted by the Department of Labour, commencing Wednesday of this week

The main issues of this dispute are wages and hours of work

A conciliation board appointed under the terms of the Labour Relations Act made a majority award consisting of:

1. Rejection of the Union's request to reduce the hours of work from 40 hours per week to 37½ hours per week with the same earnings as for 40 hours.
2. Recommendation of an increase in the number of guaranteed statutory holidays from 8 to 9, and a reduction in the qualifying time for 3 and 4 weeks of paid vacation to 5 years and 17 years, respectively.
3. Recommendation of an increase of 17.9% in wages over a two year period, which results in increases ranging from $960.00 to $1490.00.

Prior to the board hearing, the Company had agreed to accept the award as binding. This condition was refused by the Union. The Union subsequently turned down the board award, giving as the main reason; the rejection of their request for the shorter work week.
